International Nutritional Educator set to present at the U of M Crookston March 7 at 8 p.m.

By Lisa Samuelson, Krista Lemos on Thursday, February 22, 2007CROOKSTON, Minn. (February 22, 2007) – The University of Minnesota, Crookston welcomes internationally recognized nutritional educator Deanna Latson to present her acclaimed Eat Right! Feel Good! Look Great! presentation on Wednesday, March 7, at 8 p.m. in Kiehle Auditorium.

Latson has spoken to hundreds of thousands at universities and companies around the world and has been nominated as Speaker of the Year every year since 2001 by meeting planners and activities programmers. Latson is a clinically certified nutritionist and a member of the Wellness Council of America. She will be sharing with the audience her personal story about her own road to great health and share nutritionally sound advice that can change lives.

“I had the opportunity to hear Deanna Latson speak with a group of students at a regional conference in spring 2006,” said Lisa Samuelson, director of Student Activities/Student Center at the University of Minnesota, Crookston. “She literally brought us to tears with her powerful story. She truly is a captivating speaker with a great deal of expertise.”

Deanna Latson's Eat Right! Feel Good! Look Great! presentation is free and open to the public. The event is sponsored by University of Minnesota, Crookston Concerts and Lectures Committee.

The University of Minnesota, Crookston (UMC) delivers more than 24 degree programs and 50 concentrations in applied-science undergraduate degrees, including online degrees, in agriculture; arts, humanities and social sciences; business; math, science and technology; and natural resources.
